

A GUIDE FOR COUPLES

The Paper Edit

Everything you need to plan your wedding stationery, from the save the date to the last detail on the night.

A NOTE FROM JENNIFER

It's all in the details.

My philosophy has always been that it's all in the details: the perfect sketch, the right pairing of fonts, a color combination you can't stop looking at, and one small, unexpected touch that belongs only to you.

This guide gathers what years of designing for celebrations have taught me, so your stationery feels completely your own, and calm to plan.

*xoxo,
Jennifer*

INSIDE

- 01 When to order, mail and set your RSVP date
 - 02 Paper, print methods and finishes, explained
 - 03 Wording, etiquette and who receives an invitation
 - 04 Postage, hand canceling and assembly
 - 05 Carrying one look from the invitation to day-of signage
-

When everything goes in the mail

Work back from your wedding day. Each date leaves room for the one after it, so nothing is rushed.

10–5

MONTHS BEFORE

◆ Save the dates go out

Make it 7 to 10 months for a destination wedding, or when many guests are traveling.

Then

DESIGN

◆ Proofs and revisions

Your order includes the first proofs and two rounds of revisions. Any further round is $25. Check every name, date, time and address.

Then

PRINT

◆ Final approval and payment

Printing starts from final payment. Letterpress and foil take 4 to 6 weeks, and a suite with several print methods can take longer.

Then

DELIVERY

◆ Your invitations arrive

Shipped by UPS Ground or 3-day USPS Priority Mail, with tracking, and with our little love notes on assembly inside.

12

WEEKS BEFORE

◆ Invitations in the mail

Weigh one fully assembled invitation at the post office first, and ask for hand canceling.

6

WEEKS BEFORE

◆ The RSVP date

Approximately. Everyone has time to reply, and you have time to finalize numbers.

WORTH KNOWING

Delays in approving proofs or in final payment move every date after them. The earlier you decide, the calmer it feels.

FROM CHAPTER THREE

Who receives an invitation?

Count households, not guests.

One

for each couple, and for each family with children under 18 living at home.

Their own

for a child over 18 who lives at home, with the “and guest” option if you like.

10–20%

over your estimated needs, for guests added later and keepsakes for family. Our minimum order is 25.

FROM CHAPTER FOUR

Before you buy stamps

Three small things that the post office decides.

1 Weigh it.

Take one fully assembled invitation to your local post office and have it weighed before you buy postage.

2 Stamp the replies.

Remember to stamp the reply envelopes, as a courtesy to your guests.

3 Ask for hand canceling.

The post office stamps a seal over the postage instead of running the envelope through a machine. Some offer it as a courtesy, some charge, so ask around.

FROM THE STUDIO

Rather not assemble and mail them yourself?
Ask us about our assembly and mailing services, and our vintage postage.